

ARTS AND LETTERS- LARGE CHAPTER

Program of the Year.

St. Louis Metropolitan Alumnae Chapter

The National Arts & Letters Commission encourages local Delta chapters to promote cultural, artistic, and positive images of African-American contributions in their communities, through visual and performing arts, literature, fine arts, and liberal arts. The St. Louis Alumnae Metropolitan Chapter (SLMAC) achieved these goals in a variety of creative ways.

Sylvia Bailey-Small Book Club: The book club coordinates a monthly book to read and discuss. In addition to the book club, the committee coordinated three book signings: "Down Home Blues" by Phyllis Dixon (Memphis Alumnae Chapter) and "I AM Woman" by Dr. Camesha Carter (St. Louis Metropolitan Alumnae Chapter).

Red Carpet Events: The committee hosted a viewing of the movie MARSHALL. SLMAC also attended a special screening for the film Black Panther in partnership with the African Student Association of Washington University. The chapter promoted "Tell Them We Are Rising: The Story of Black Colleges and Universities".

Kwanzaa: The Power of Self-Love: On December 30, 2017, SLMAC presented its 19th annual Kwanzaa celebration in coordination with the Saint Louis Art Museum.

Cultural Tour: Tours of the National African American and Civil War to Civil Rights Museums, Washington, D.C.: The Annual Culture Tour is another SLMAC partnership with the Saint Louis Art Museum that strengthens the ties with the greater St. Louis area community.
