Political Awareness and Involvement - Collegiate Chapter

Phi Chapter

The Letters for Liberation program took place on December 6th, 2017 and had two main goals. The first goal of this program was to let the United Nations know that the American people are against the slave trade that is currently taking place in Libya. To make our voices heard, our chapter sent over 300 signed letters to the United Nations demanding that actions be taken against the slave trade.

Hundreds of African refugees are being sold into the Libyan slave market. It is extremely necessary that we use the privileges and rights we hold to fight against the oppressions our sisters and brothers in Africa are facing day in and day out. The second goal of the program was to educate the student bodies at Drake and Iowa State Universities about the current state of Libya. Our chapter believed it was extremely important to bring awareness to the Libyan Slave Trade as to not only bring attention to the issue, but also educate our peers. The Letters for Liberation program's purpose was to help put an end to a slave trade that has ruined over 450,000 African refugee lives. Phi Chapter's Letter for Liberation Program truly embodies the concept of Political Awareness & Involvement.
